FROM THE DIRECTOR

Our heating and air conditioning system failed on the mezzanine level this fall, and the rest of the units in the building must be replaced as well. As long as we are doing that work, we will replace all the floor coverings in the building and move some things around. The Teens will take over part of the Children's room; we will establish space for folks to work together informally in the current Teen space, and we will provide more seating on the mezzanine. We are fortunate to have received a legacy several years ago, as well as a rather large donation from current library patrons. These monies as well as some reserve funds will pay for the bulk of the work being done. I apologize in advance for any disruption. The result will be worth the inconvenience.

A PROGRAM FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY
Grandparents, Parents, Teens and Big Kids.

Nobel Peace Prize winner Yousafzai (I Am Malala), who famously survived being shot by Taliban soldiers as a teen in 2012, is a passionate activist for girls' right to education. Yet, in this profound volume, she sidesteps those aspects of her life to illuminate another experience: displacement—beginning with her family's forced 2009 evacuation of their Pakistani hometown in response to escalating Taliban violence. Comprising the bulk of the book are urgent, articulate first-person stories from displaced or refugee young women whom Yousafzai has encountered in her travels, whose birthplaces include Colombia, Guatemala, Syria, and Yemen.

CARL ZIMMER

Blizzard

Snow:
 years of anger following hours that float idly down — the blizzard drifts its weight deeper and deeper for three days or sixty years, eh? Then the sun! a clutter of yellow and blue flakes — Hairy looking trees stand out in long alleys over a wild solitude. The man turns and there — his solitary track stretched out upon the world.
